Nutley, NJ (September 26, 2015) – Tonight at Veterans Memorial Park in Beach Haven, New Jersey, undefeated Lightweight O'Shanique Foster will be in action in a 4-round bout against Darius Jackson.

Foster, of Orange, Texas has a record of 7-0 with 4 knockouts, has a lot on the line because with a win, he is in line for his national television debut when he is scheduled to take on Samuel Teah on ShoBox: The New Generation.

The 22 year-old Foster is not taking Jackson lightly as he knows that he needs a victory to advance his promising career.

"Training camp was great. I had a lot of good sparring and put a lot of roadwork in," said Foster.

When asked about taking a "tune-up" fight just 6 weeks before a big fight on television, Foster is treating this fight just as serious.

"This fight will prepare my mind for November 6. It will be my first television shot but I take every opponent one at a time. I treat all opponents like they are world champions. I do not know much about him except that he is a little taller and we have a gameplan to get inside."

"I am looking for a big win on Saturday and that will get me to the November fight and I expect to put on a great show on that night as well," said Foster.
